SUB-COMMITTEE NAMED TO INVESTIGATE BRANDIES

Washington, Jan. 31.—Acting Chairman Overman of the senate judiciary committee today named Senators Chilton, Fletcher, Walsh, Clark and Cummins a sub-committee to investigate the fitness of Louis D. Brandeis for the post of associate justice of the United States supreme court, to which he was named last week by President Wilson.

CONVICTS ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE

Salt Lake City, Jan. 31.—Earl Dunlap, an escaped prisoner from Folsom prison, California, George Thornton and George Dale, Walla Walla street car bandits, and three other prisoners in the penitentiary here were confined in separate cells today following their unsuccessful attempt to tunnel their way to freedom last night.

WARNING OF HEAVY FROST PROTECTS ORANGE GROVES

Los Angeles, Jan. 31.—Timely warning of a heavy frost in the citrus districts today enabled ranchers to smudge and protect their groves, according to reports here today.

At 2 a. m. the thermometer at Monrovia dropped to 28, and smudging was started in the Richardson grove. At midnight the Covina mercury hit 28 and smudging was begun.

REPORT DUTCH VESSEL MAASSDIJKEK BEACHED

London, Jan. 31.—The Dutch vessel Maassdijkke has been beached, with two of her crew killed.

As the above dispatch had been censored, no hint of the cause of the trouble was given. It is presumed, however, the ship was either torpedoed or mined.

Did They "Hock" Them?

"In the olden days they had no watches, you know," said the father. "And how did they tell the time?" asked the son. "By sundials," said the young man, feeling of his watchless chain. "how much could a fellow get on a sundial, do you suppose?" Exchange world, except South America, which this tremendous war disturbance has not involved. There is a daily and hourly danger when those countries may feel constrained to do things inconsistent with the policies of the United States."

He reiterated thereupon the statements of his Pittsburg and Cleveland address that the people of this nation are depending upon him to keep them from war.

"I pledge you, Gold helping me, that I will continue to do so," he continued. "But you have asked me to maintain this country's honor. There may come a time, however, when I can not do both. Therefore, you must stand ready to do what is necessary to protect the honor of the country."

Discussing the subject of coast defense briefly, Wilson, as previously, termed them efficient, but insufficient. He reiterated his designation of the United States navy as fourth among nations, and urged the necessity for developing it to the highest adequacy and efficiency. Concerning the army, he said that it ought to be fashioned after Jefferson's plan—"an army, springing from the people, but trained so as not to be mere objects of shot and shell."

"Nothing new has happened," he declared. "There is no crisis. I have come out on this errand because everywhere the atmosphere of the world is thrilling with the passion of a disturbance such as the world has never seen before. We should set our house in order."

"If danger comes I want to turn to you and the rest of my countrymen and say, 'Men, are you ready?'"

But he declared he wanted them to be trained in military tactics. He reiterated the gist of his Racine speech of the forenoon, declaring that he was pledged to government manufacture of munitions as far as possible.

Chicago, Jan. 31.—President Wilson arrived here at 8:11 this morning on his way to the "hyphen-country" at Milwaukee, where tonight he speaks in favor of preparedness.

The chief executive did not leave the train as it pulled into the LaSalle street station and the special was switched to the Northwestern tracks, ready to leave at 10:30 for Milwaukee.

The president, his wife, Dr. Grayson, and the presidential secretary were at breakfast as the train arrived. Along the route from Cleveland throngs were out from dawn on to catch a glimpse of the party. At a number of stations they were rewarded by a glimpse at the president and his bride, but the crowds at the LaSalle and Northwestern stations were not permitted to enter the gates.

There were indications today that the president probably would touch every part of the country on different trips before he completed his preparedness stumping tour.

As the president left for Milwaukee at 10:07 an air hose on his train exploded, startling everyone. Wilson was assured, however, that there was no danger.

He offered no comment on the Frankfurter Zeitung report that Germany had said her last word in the Lusitania case, and that she did not disapprove the action of the German commander.

At the same time he authorized a denial of the report that he had changed his view as to the right of Americans to travel on belligerent ships. He does not favor Senator Gore's measure to bar them from such vessels, and he stands on the principle that any American has unquestionable rights on the high seas.

SAN FRANCISCO COMPANIES CHARGE DISCRIMINATION

Washington, Jan. 31.—Seven San Francisco companies today complained to the interstate commerce commission against the Southern Pacific and the Western Pacific railroads, charging them with discrimination in favor of Oakland on livestock rates from Nevada, Utah, Oregon and New Mexico to San Francisco. It was claimed that San Francisco dealers were assessed $3 more per car than Oakland parties.

BUYING A HAT IN HAWAII.

It Cost More to Find the Article Than It Did to Purchase It.

In his eagerness to see a whale during the voyage between Honolulu and the island of Hawaii, Homer Croy, who tells about his adventure in Travel, leaned too far over the rail and lost his hat.

After arriving at the island he climbed into a taxicab and told the driver to take him to a hat store. "Do you understand?" he asked. "A hat store."

"Yes, for sure, all right," the Japanese chauffeur answered.

They went bumping up the street, swung wildly round a corner and finally, at the far side of the town, drew up to the curb. In the window of the store was a bedstead, on which hung the sign, "This Week Cheap."

"What do you mean by taking me to a furniture store?" Mr. Croy demanded. "Dis Hata store," replied the Japanese driver, and he pointed to the name of the proprietor, "K. Hata."

"I want a hat, not a bed," Mr. Croy said, with feeling. "I want it for this," pointing to his bare head.

"Yes, for sure, all right."

With that the cab whirled down the street and away to the other side of the town, while the taxi bill was merely running up. This time it stopped before a barber shop.

"No; I don't want anything taken off my head. I want something put on it," declared Mr. Croy, who was now quite irritated.

"Yes, for sure, I understand all right," replied the chauffeur, with a grin.

They went clattering just as far to the other side of the town as they could and drew up before a store that as an afterthought apparently carried a line of hats. Mr. Croy had to pay twice the price of a hat on the way to buy it, but this did not seem to worry the driver, who, after the manner of automobile drivers, stood up under it bravely.
